More Ukrainians on their way to Moosomin

BY KEVIN WEEDMARK More Ukrainians are coming to Mooso-

min. One family of six currently in Saskatoon came to Moosomin on the weekend and are starting work today (a couple, two children and one set of grandparents), and two other families may be coming soon as well—a family of three (a couple with a four-year-old son), and a family of four (a couple with two children).

Roman Chernykh picked up the family in Saskatoon and drove them to Moosomin Saturday. The family had been worried about jobs for the grandparents in their 60s, but jobs were found for both immediately and they are working as of today. The Moosomin Housing Authority will be providing housing for the new arrivals initially. The Moosomin Chamber of Commerce and Moosomin Economic Development had a booth at a provincial job fair in Saskatoon last Wednesday to help attract more displaced Ukrainians and other newcomers to the province. Moosomin Economic Development Officer Casey McCormac and Borderland Co-op employee Ievgeniia Tsymbal represented Moosomin at the job fair. When the Moosomin Chamber of Commerce put out a call to see if there was a Ukrainian speaker who could acwas a Ukrainian speaker who could ac-company McCormac to the job fair, Jason Schenn of Borderland Co-op responded immediately, suggesting that Tsymbal could attend, as she speaks Ukrainian. She agreed, and McCormac said that made a difference, as Moosomin was one of the very few tables at the job fair with a Ukraining encoder which atteacted a lot a Ukrainian speaker, which attracted a lot of the new arrivals.

Owners of Zaylie Furniture are proud of their partnership in business

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS

LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER Being open for almost six years now, the owners of Zaylie Furniture, Bedding and Appliances in Moosomin said they are looking forward to this year's holiday season

"We're hoping to be busy, we're hoping to have people wanting to spend their money locally," said Arvelle Leslie, interior designer and co-owner of Zaylie Furniture, Bedding and Appliances.

"People always say they can get it cheap-er in the city, but by the time you factor in your fuel and going out for lunch, or supper, is it actually that much cheaper? "We offer good customer service because we deliver and do set up as well. That's not really an option when you're hauling a 300

Her husband and Zaylie co-owner Wayne McGonigal, said supporting local businesses also helps support the community. "What comes around goes around, right? It's not just us making money, it gives us the chance to hire more staff and give them more hours, that way they're making money too," he said. "And, the more money they have, the more they're putting back into the community. It just circulates and grows, which is the main thing.

"Also with donations, we do lots of do-nations. The big picture is just trying to keep the money in the community as much as possible." "We try to give back as much as we can to the community," added Leslie. "Not just Moosomin, but also the surrounding communities because they shop here as well."

Leslie said when people are supporting local businesses they are also helping small business owners.

"It is harder for smaller businesses to compete with the box stores any time of the year, but especially during holiday seasons because they're throwing out the Black Fri-day sales and other deals," she said. "We try to do what we can, but we just can't compete with the city, but what we can do is offer good customer service.

'That's where you're hoping your customer base is going to stay shopping local and support local because of the type of customer service that we do offer."

Continually growing as a business

Leslie said her and McGonigal are proud of how far their business has come since Wayne McGonigal and Arvelle Leslie owners of Zaylie Furniture, Bedding and Appliances in Moosomin said their store is a one-stopshop to help people in the community save the trip from going into the city, to find furniture in making their homes more comfortable.

they opened in April, 2017. "When we started we didn't have all this square footage, it's really evolved," said Leslie.

"We definitely didn't have this much inventory, expanding on all that has been great. That's what I like about it, we just keep growing and keep having new cus-tomers come in all the time. It's awesome because that's what we want.

"We still get people who ask how many rears we've been in business, we'll tell them five and a half years, but they'll say they've never been in here before, or didn't even know we existed. "How do we broaden that? Because we still have, obviously, a whole customer base out there somewhere that we haven't reached yet, which is good."

With having everything from furniture to appliances available in the store, McGonigal spoke about how convenient it is for customers.

"One of our big features here is when people are doing kitchen renovations, is when the contractors need dimensions for stoves, fridges, they have to come in here and order it," he said.

"Part of our business is that we'll order for you, store it for the person, and deliver it for the time they are ready to have it.

"Lots of people take us up on ordering products because they know that it's go-ing to be kept in the store until they need it. Renovations are stressful enough, the last thing you want is your kitchen being done and your fridge isn't in on time. "We've got the room too so we'll store it."

McGonigal said another pro of having a furniture store in a small town is know-ing people are comfortable enough to share their feedback.

"We get lots of feedback too. Lots of peoole thank us that we're here and say, 'who knows how long we would have waited for a new fridge,' or, 'we couldn't get to the city today, when would they have delivered it,' and so on.'

"We've also had cases where we'd given out a loaner fridge until the one that they want specifically, comes in," added Leslie.

"That helps some people out too, it's a little bit more work for us, but we're keeping our customers happy. Hoping they'll spread the word and come back to support us again."

Having a furniture store in a rural area is convenient for everyone in the community, said McGonigal.

"Older people, they don't want to go to the city, they don't always know how to or-der stuff online and figure out how to get it into their homes," he said

"They appreciate that they can just drive down here, order what they need, and we'll deliver it into their house. We'll take their old stuff away, if it's appliances or chairs too. People in general are just busy now, lots of young people would probably call a friend and do it, but they may just have busy lives. If they know we're going to de-liver it and get it all set up, they appreciate that. They have no problem paying a fee to do it.

Leslie and McGonigal said they are thankful for the community's support.

"We just want to thank our customers We appreciate the business we had this year," said Leslie.

"We hope everyone comes back and if they're new, then hop into our store and see what we're all about.

"We definitely appreciate their business. That's also why we try to give out as much donations as we can, it makes us feel good that we're giving back to the community that supports us," added McGonigal.

History behind the store

The idea for opening a furniture store in town came from realizing that there was no local place in Moosomin for peo-ple to buy furniture from.

"It was for filling a void in town, mostly. People were having to go somewhere else to shop for furniture, mattresses, and appli-ancer" said McConical ances. said McGonigal.

"We like that if someone's doing a renovation or building a home, they can come here. It's like a one-stop shop," added Les-

"People can get everything they pretty much need here. If they're doing a kitchen renovation, or for their living room, we have all of those things available that we can offer to them.

Pride in Zaylies being a partnership Leslie and McGonigal were asked what they enjoy about being business owners. "There is some pride in owning a business and being successful at it for sure," said McGonigal.

"Arvelle is more into designing and ordering the products, but every once in a while we're trying something different. We'll throw ideas around between each other, sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't, but it's a good feeling when you do it and it does work.

"She also does deliveries, I have a farm girl wife so she doesn't mind lifting, that also helps," he laughed.

"There's definitely pride in the fact you built the business from the ground up."

I don't even have words on how much it means to us. We don't know what the future is with her. As for bringing her home, we're going to have to make some changes. We're going to have to buy a new vehicle because we don't have ac-cess to handy vans and stuff in the rural communities. Jodi explained how the accident with Kennedy happened. "On July 2nd, she was barrel racing at the Carberry fair," she said.

"Checkstops are an important enforcement tool and a highly visual reminder to drivers about the importance of planning a safe ride home," Minister Responsible for SGI Don Morgan said. "Impaired driving is a persistent and deadly problem which requires ongoing enforcement. SGI is providing additional funding to police agencies to conduct more than 40 checkstops this December in order to keep our roads safe." Checkstops can occur any day of the week, on a mu-nicipal street, in a city, in a town or on a highway. Police also use less conspicuous tactics to catch impaired driv-ers, and the public is encouraged to call 9-1-1 to report any motorists they believe are driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs. The bottom line is this: if you drive impaired anywhere in Saskatchewan, there is a strong chance you'll be caught, arrested and charged.

Roadside alcohol screening

Under federal legislation, specifically Bill C-46, which took effect in 2018 - police can legally demand a roadside breath test for alcohol from anyone they legally stop. A trained officer will make a formal demand that someone provide a breath sample into an approved screening device. There is no requirement for reasonable suspicion for the officer to make a demand. People who refuse a test can be charged with a Criminal Code offence, with penalties that are the same or greater than those for impaired driving convictions. If you're not driving impaired, the breath test just takes a matter of seconds, and drivers who pass are on their way quickly.

We use all the tools we have at our disposal to try to keep our roads safe - roadside breath tests being one of them " of them.

Drivers are reminded to only drive if they are sober, and to find a safe ride home when they're impaired.

Tree Lighting Ceremony at SEICC on Dec. 13

Moosomin town council: Grant approved for tipi structure

BY KEVIN WEEDMARK

BY KEVIN WEEDMARK In his recreation report at the latest Moosomin town council meeting, Mike Schwean told town council that the Métis Nation of Saskatchewan has approved a grant of $50,000 for a tipi structure at Bradley Park. The town has been planning the tipi structure to ac-knowledge the Indigenous heritage of the area. There had been discussion of adding a Red River cart as well, but with the timelines for the grant a Red River cart couldn't be completed in time, but it may be added in future.

"The Métis Nation of Saskatchewan had a grant avail-able," Schwean explains. "Ed and Cindy Blondeau talked to me about it and how we could make use of it. We talk ed about a few different things, and settled on the tipi. To me this is a nice addition to the park, it will provide

"We have lots of parties coming up at the Sportsplex, including lots of out of town parties," Schwean said. "People are coming from all over to use it, it's very popular for Christmas parties." He said all the facilities are being well used. "It's incred-ibly busy up there," Schwean told council. The town had raised the issue of the lack of acceleration and deceleration lanes at the three intersections with Highway 1 and the short length of the others.

The highways ministry responded that it does not see an issue with the lanes. Proceeds from winter gala donated to CT Scanner

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS

LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER This year, Kim and Kari's Winter Gala raised $5,603.55 from their event. All of the proceeds were donated to the Southeast In-tegrated Care Centre (SEICC) in Moosomin, in support of funding a CT Scanner for the hospital.

In early November, Kari Kosior and Kim Setrum hosted a winter gala in Moosomin as a fundraiser, but also for a chance for the community to come together and enjoy a fun night of entertainment.

The money raised came from the different fundraisers at the event, including a penny arcade, a male auction, a 50/50 draw, a $2,000 shopping spree giveaway for Kari's Kloset and silent auction items.

There was also entertainment at the gala which included a fashion show done by Kari's Kloset, along with gifts and swag bags. All of the people at the event had the chance to vote for a charity they wanted the

Based on the majority of the audience, the CT Scanner for SEICC won by a landslide. "We did a vote, there was about five different organizations that we listed on the back of our programs," said Kosior. "We listed them off and asked people to cheer as I presented each one, to see where majority was going to lead to. It was crazy, I think CT Scanner was fourth on the list and the room went crazy by the time we named it. We had each table make their one vote, and then we just did a majority vote and it was for the CT Scanner."

Being the first gala Kosior and Setrum ever hosted in town, she said they did not expect to raise that much money. "Because it was our first gala, we really did keep it small and manageable, so we sold only 130 tickets," Kosior said. "Originally it was 100 tickets, but we sold out super fast and decided to add the extra 30 tickets. We did get a lot of feedback that we should've added more tables, but because it was our first time we wanted to make sure we could keep it manageable."

Kari and Kim are hoping to make the gala a regular event in town. They said they are grateful to all the sponsors from the event. "Dana from West Wind Florist, she donated all the centre pieces. She also had cute bud vases that she gifted to each person," said Kosior.

"Jarrod from Cork & Bone, he catered the charcuterie because he knew it was an event for fundraising, he also sold us the wine at cost, which was awesome.

The event included an intergenerational fashion show as well.

"We were also so lucky to have the ladies that we did as our models for the fashion show," said Kosior.

"I asked a couple of the girls, I told them my idea and they said let me ask mom and grandma, I was so lucky. "The fashion show was a lot of work, but it was a lot fun and the models helped make it easier.

Wendy Lynd of the Moosomin Health Care Foundation said the donation helps Care roundation said the donation helps SEICC greatly. Having a CT Scanner at the hospital in Moosomin would help people in the area get CT Scans from a wide range of diagnosfics.

Although still short of the proceeds needed, the Health Care Foundation is continuing to work towards funding a new CT Scanner for the Southeast Integrated Care Centre (SEICC) in Moosomin.

In our opinion:

Forcing kids to wear masks in school again is a bad idea

Mask mandates have reduced children's immunity to common viruses

Hospitals are experiencing an influx of young children with serious respiratory illnesses. Out of concern for their well-being, some health professionals are pushing to bring back mask mandates for schools. In other words, students would be required, once again, to wear masks while in school buildings.

buildings. While their motives might be admirable, their remedy is anything but because wearing masks in schools at this stage of the COVID-19 pandemic would be useless and downright harmful.

It's important to note that most children admitted to hospital are not ill because of COVID-19. Rather, they are sick with other respiratory illnesses such as respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) or influenza. These illnesses are not new, and there is nothing unusual about children contracting them. In fact, they are common childhood illnesses, and many children contract them every year.

The problem is that mask mandates and public health restrictions over the last two years have dramatically reduced children's exposure to these common viruses. As a result, young children have less immunity to RSV and influenza and some are now getting sicker than children did in the past and influenza, and some are now getting sicker than children did in the past. Even if we assume that masks would reduce the transmission of viruses, all the mandates do is delay the inevitable. The wave of infections happening this fall would simply be postponed until restrictions are dropped again – except it would be even worse next time because children would have even less immunity than they do today.

Of course, the other option is to keep mask mandates in place indefinitely. Few people seriously think this is a realistic option: the notion that students should wear masks all day in school from K-12 is not a viable strategy. Thus, unless we are prepared to keep masks in place forever, we must acknowledge that it's time to move away from mask mandates in schools.

As for COVID-19, the virus has clearly entered its endemic stage. No one, other than China's Communist government, thinks that a zero-COVID strategy will work. Virtually everyone acknowledges that COVID-19 will be with us for many years to come, just like influenza and RSV. This means there is no point in wearing masks until COVID-19 goes away because the virus is not going away soon. Instead, it will continue to mutate and circulate in our population.

Parents who are worried about their children's health can take comfort in the fact that children continue to be the demographic group least likely to experience serious outcomes from COVID-19. In addition, parents have the option of vaccinating their children against COVID-19 if they wish. Obviously, these vaccines should remain optional for both children and Obviously, these vaccines should remain optional for both children and adults. Parents must be free to decide the medical interventions they want for their children. Vaccination is a personal medical decision that should be made by parents when they consult with their doctor.

Let's not forget that children have suffered greatly over the past two years. Not only have they missed months of school, but much of their time back in school was marred with mask mandates and strict social distancing regulations.

Finally, this school year is back to normal, and the last thing students, especially young students, need is to be forced to wear masks while they are attending school.

In addition, wearing a mask interferes with normal interpersonal communication and is particularly hard on students with hearing disabilities. Since masks cover the face, it becomes almost impossible to read lips and interpret facial cues. In addition, masks make it harder to have a normal conversation since they tend to muffle voices.

In the end, we need to decide what type of society we want to have. Do we want to be a society of hypochondriacs obsessed with personal health to the point of making it almost impossible to contract a respiratory virus? Or do we want to be a free and open society that thrives on normal communication and interpersonal contact?

Judging by the fact that masks are becoming increasingly rare in public places, it is clear what most people have chosen. Anyone who wants to wear a mask in public places, including schools, is free to do so. But school trustees should not impose this choice on students.

ees should not impose this choice on students. The COVID-19 pandemic has been hard enough on our kids. Let's not make it even harder by bringing back unnecessary mask mandates.

Great to see more Ukrainians coming to the Moosomin area

More Ukrainians are making Moosomim home. A family of six arrived on the weekend, with Roman Chernykh driving them down from Saskatoon.

The family reached out to the Moosomin Housing Authority, the housing authority found a place for them, they met with Casey, our economic development officer at a job fair in Saskatoon Wednesday, they had some concerns over whether the grandparents in their 60s could find jobs in Moosomin, and the answer of course was yes. Roman found them both jobs and they start today.

There are two more families with children that are also looking at coming to Moosomin from Saskatoon.

I'm always amazed at how everyone works together in our community. In this case everyone from the housing authority to the economic development committee, to the chamber of commerce, to Roman to the Co-op who lent a Ukrainian speaking employee for the job fair for a day, worked together and as a result we have a new family coming to town.

Great initiative

Congratulations to the MacLeod School Community Council for coming up with a great idea for a fundraiser that started strong last year and grew even bigger this year. The SCC came up with the idea of selling gift

The SCC came up with the idea of selling gift cards to local businesses, with businesses donating a percentage of sales to the school community council for all the great work they do.

The fundraiser was planned so that people would have their gift cards in time for Moonlight Madness and the Christmas shopping season.

There was incredibly strong support for the program the first year, and $46,000 in gift cards were purchased through the program. While in some fundraisers, people are purchasing something coming from out of the area, in this case, every penny spent on the fundraiser is staying local, some in the form of gift cards that can be used locally, some in support for the School Community Council.

This year it went even better, with $117,000 in local gift cards sold through the program! Thanks to the organizers for a wonderful shop local initiative, and thanks to everyone who supported this fundraiser!

Great support for local shopping

It's great to see the strong support for local shopping events.

There are many more opportunities for supporting your local businesses during the Christmas season, and more ways local businesses and business groups are thanking the public for their support.

The Moosomin Chamber of Commerce is running a Countdown to Christmas Draw over the next couple of weeks to give people one more opportunity to win by shopping locally, and of course there is the World-Spectator's $15,000 Christmas Giveaway, including more businesses than ever this year, rewarding one local shopper with $15,000 to spend locally, and rewarding 50 more with secondary prizes from the participating businesses.

The Christmas shopping season is vitally important to local retailers, and it's great to see so many people showing strong support for local retail!

Minor Hockey Report For those like myself that enjoy Minor Hockey if you have not got out to a few games yet this year you are really missing out as Moosomin Has some outstanding teams and individual talent. Here is a quick look at how our local teams are doing in the Major Hockey League: U18 Midget Rangers Moosomin U18 are a perfect 6-0 and leading the MHL. Indian Head is close behind at 5-1 and then the Preecev-ille Pats are at 4-0. Rangers and Pats are the only two perfect teams thus far.

perfect teams thus far. U15 Bantam Rangers

Our U15 Rangers are 4-1 on the season. Swan Valley at 6-0-2 and in first but the local Rangers are hot on their heels

U13 Pee Wee Rangers Moosomin has a pair of teams in this division. Our lo-cal U13 Red are at 4-1 and tied for the league lead while the U13 Blue check in at 1-2 but look for them to make some major strides in the coming weeks.

U11 Atom Rangers Moosomin has three teams in this division with the regular season games just getting started. Moosomin White have jumped out to a 1-0 start ... Moosomin Blue dropped their first game of the year to sit at 0-1 while Moosomin Red had not yet played a regular season game.

U15 Female Borderland Badgers Our Female team is well into their inaugural season

Our Female team is well into their inaugural season and while they are off to a 0-4-2 start they do have a cou-ple of ties and are improving each and every time out. U13 Female Borderland Badgers Like the u15 the U13 are in their first season ...they are off to a very respectable 1-2 start and like their older counterparts are improving by the week!! U14 Atom Badgers Just getting their season started ...I am told to expect a very successful season from this crew!!

Bradley Park Skateway Rob Hanson got a great start on the Bradley Park Skateway last week. Should be good to go in time for our National Video coming up this week. Again, for those new to town, the skateway is a flood path over 1,000 yards long that winds through Bradley Park. The skate-way is super cool and a great family outing. Also keep in mind the skateway loops around starting and ending at the beated change room. the heated change room.

Cross-Country Ski Paths Adrian Gaudet is all set to get going on the Cross-Country Ski Paths...obviously needing to wait for some snow!! This has been a fantastic addition to our winter programming as Adrian runs paths throughout the Park, and a special thank you to Ken and Cory Turpie who al-low us to run the paths south of Bradley Park winding around the Turpie family trees.

Free Equipment Program For the second year in a row we will be offering free usage of Cross-Country Ski Equipment. We would like to thank McNaughton High for the donation of several pairs of skis/boots and to South East District for Sport, Culture and Recreation for a grant last year that allowed us to purchase several more pairs. Also a big thank you to Kate Chegwin for her initiative to round up skates/equipment which will also be made available free of charge for those needing equipment. We also have some equipment on hand which we will add

Broadview RCMP Report

BY SGT DALLYN HOLMSTROM

36 fines this week

Thirty-six fines were given out this week, including five tickets for failing to stop at a stop sign which holds a fine of $230. These are so much easier for RCMP to prove these days as all RCMP vehicles have a camera recording in them.

Three more charged for passing school buses with arms out

Three more cases of vehicles passing school buses with stop arms out were reported this week. RCMP were able to charge all three subjects as the bus drivers were able to obtain licence plate numbers. Please remember that if you are heliced a school bus the school bus school and school bus the school bus school bus school bus school and school bus school bus school and school bus sch you are behind a school bus that has the stop arm out you are not permitted to pass. It doesn't matter how wide the street is or how many lanes of traffic there is. You can not pass a school bus in any direction with its stop arm activated!

Stolen items recovered

On November 24, RCMP were called to a motel in Whitewood where there was a report of clothing and tools stolen out of the box of a truck which was parked in the parking lot. With the assistance of video surveillance and a lot of luck RCMP located the suspect vehicle driv-ing on a grid road near Percival. RCMP arrested the male driver and processed all the stolen property in the vehicle. RCMP located stolen property from several other break and enters including non-from Esterhazy on November 21. Some of the stolen property included power tools, jacks, tires, clothing, boots, catalytic convertors, gasoline, as well as some electronics.

Male and female arrested

On November 25, Broadview RCMP received a call to a residence in Broadview through 911. When members at-tended they located a male and a female with conditions to not have contact with one another. Both were arrested in the Kings Bed and Breakfast. The female was released the next morning when she was sober while the male re-mained in custody due to the severity of other charges of his as well as his criminal history.

hole in the side of a quonset in order to steal a 1986 Chevrolet Wrangler pickup truck.

Wellness check on elderly man

On November 25, Broadview RCMP completed a wellness check on a senior male in Broadview. The senior almost fell victim to a money scam recently and the caller was scared that the male might be still talking to the potential scammers. RCMP attended and learned the male was well aware of the scam and ensured RCMP he was not talking to the scammers. You really can't be too care-ful when you're dealing with scammers and if you're worried about someone you know it's always better to be safe.

Thank your sober self

On November 25, RCMP responded to a call on Kah-kewistahaw First Nations where two males showed up in-toxicated demanding a third person give them their bank cards. RCMP attended and arrested the two intoxicated males and lodged them at the Kings Hotel until they were sober. Upon further investigation it was determined that the intoxicated males had given their bank cards to a third party to ensure that they did not spend too much money on alcohol. No charges were laid.

Intoxicated, unwanted female

On November 26, Broadview RCMP responded to a residence with an unwanted intoxicated female on Cowessess First Nations. The intoxicated female was attempting to drive away from the residence but a responsible male took her keys away. The intoxicated female attempted to get her keys back and leave the residence and in doing sc assaulted the male. The intoxicated female was arrested and spent the night at the Kings Hotel until she was sober. The female was also charged with assaulting the male but at least she avoided an impaired driving charge and the potentially dangerous results of impaired driving

RCMP identifying hunters on land without permission On November 26, RCMP received a call of hunters hunting on land without permission. The caller obtained photos of the hunters responsible and RCMP are looking into identifying the people responsible. I want to remind eople that you need permission to hunt on any land even if it's not posted. When you are hunting make sure you have permission to be hunting on that land or you can be charged or lose you ability to hunt and possess firearms.

Mental health calls this week

Broadview RCMP responded to several mental health calls this week. The mental health calls varied from people with dementia. people suffering from drug and alcohol psychosis, to people suffering from depression. We want to encourage everyone to reach out for help and talk to someone if they can. No matter how bad things may seem remember that they will always get better. Life can be very difficult to say the least. Please reach out and check in with friends, coworkers, and family to see how they are doing. It's a perfectly normal question to ask people how they are doing. Don't let people suffer in silence.

If you see someone that you believe needs some help but won't accept help from you, please let the police or their family know. Help is also available 24 hours a day at Canada's Suicide Prevention Service at 1-833-456-4566.

Scam of the week

I can't stress this enough-no credible business or peron will ever ask you to send gift cards of any kind (Apple, Google etc.) for payment. This week's scam actually happened in the area this year. A senior citizen victim provided a fraudulent tech company access to his computer in order to try and fix an issue. Once the tech company gained access to the vic-tim's computer they moved money from one account of the victim's accounts to another. This made the victim believe that the company had actually put money into his account as he only looked in the account that had extra money in it. Once the victim confronted the fraudster about the movement on the money the victim was asked to send $10,000 in gift cards to the fraudster in order to straighten out the problem.

The fraudster even coached the victim to tell the store that he was sending money to his family if he was ques-tioned about the gift cards while buying them at the store. In these instances, there is not much police can do as there is usually no way to track the cards that are sent or

I can't stress this enough—don't send money or gift cards to someone you don't know.

Police joke

A police officer stopped a motorist for driving the wrong way down a one-way highway.

"Just where do you think you're going?" the officer asked.

"I don't know" he answered, "but I must be late. Every-one else is already coming back!"

Have a great week and stay safe!

Kipling Food Bank helps with Christmas hampers

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS LOCAL JOURNALISM

INITIATIVE REPORTER For this year's holiday eason, Kipling Food Bank will be putting together special Christmas food hampers for local families to help provide the necessities for a good, healthy Christmas dinner. "We're putting non perishable products in the spe-cial Christmas hampers, as well as hams and turkeys too. Basically it's a regular hamper, plus whatever it takes to make a Christmas dinner," said Wayne Struble of Kipling Food Bank. Struble was asked if their

"We just ask for anything that's non perishable. We have received a lot of gar-pasta sauces, those types of things. Struble explained why they decided to organize a special Christmas hamper instead of their regular food hampers

"We help about 20 families a month. We used to have a program over here called Food Share," he said. "That was always activated in the holiday season, but the people who were running that decided they have enough so they turned it over to Kipling Food Bank.

"They used to supply all the hams and turkeys for the Christmas hampers, but we've taken all of that on now.

He spoke about why it is important to donate and help local families around this time of the year.

"There's families out there who can't afford a turkey and the price of ev-erything has gone so high," Struble said.

There's just families out there who are struggling.

We have a list of families that we normally provide for regularly, and there's the odd new one that comes

"We have a phoning list and we call people to ask them if they're in need this year, and if they are, we'll look after them.

This makes a difference to families because it's a Christmas dinner, it's either they get one or they don't." People who are looking to donate can drop off their donations at the Kipling Food Bank. People can drop it off at the food bank, but I always suggest they call me first because we're not open ev-ery day," Struble said.

"They can call me and we can make arrangements to pick up. There's new families that come on and they're not aware of the times that we are at the food bank, but we can always look after them on our off hours too."

People can contact Stru-ble at (306) 736-2927.

Wall's legacy one of growth

Critics suggest that former premier Brad Wall and now the current Saskatchewan Party government have simply been lucky.

Deen lucky. There is always an element of luck in politics, although luck without good management will only take you so far. The previous conservative-minded government—Grant Devine's Progressive Conservative administration that ran Saskatchewan between 1982 and 1991—demonstrated nei-ther good luck nor good management.

Its 10 deficit budgets caused by massive overspending and huge tax cuts took the province to the brink bank-ruptcy. But it didn't help that Saskatchewan also faced the worst drought in half a century and cratering oil prices and poor potash prices caused by over production. The outcome was an all-too-familiar one for a province that had long defined itself by losing its young people moving away to Alberta, B.C. and elsewhere. This was the reality for most of the 16 years of the NDP government and every other government prior to Wall's Sask Party administration since population peaked in 1934.

Jask rarty administration since population peaked in 1934. Things were starting to turn around under the Lorne Calvert NDP administration and in the early-to-mid-2000s. It can be argued that former premier Brad Wall did in-herit these political good times that included an already-growing population that crossed the 1,000,000 barrier in July 2007. For a brief seven-were period the time that included and the seven-were period that in the seven were period.

For a brief seven-year period starting with the last two years of the Calvert government and five first years of the Wall government, we actually saw more in-migration (peo-ple moving to Saskatchewan from other provinces) than out-migration (people leaving for other province.) That's something that almost never happened since the 1920s. But there are valid reasons why Brad Wall would cite population growth in his years as premier as his crowning achievement.

There is the Saskatchewan Party government success story story. "It was the idea that somehow we were the 'wee' prov-ince or that we'd always be in and out of the equalization (as a 'have-not' province)," Wall said in an interview last week prior to the unveiling of his premier's portrait in the Saskatchewan Gallery of the legislature. Yes, Wall was blessed with fantastic budgets in 2008 and 2009—budgets even better than the $1.1-billion surplus proversed to 2022 23 is the pid user undate. (Circum now predicted for 2022-23 in the mid-year update. (Given that we were looking at a $483-million budget deficit in March, this is a rather amazing turnaround.) But there were also some rather bad budget/economic years in this province dependent on the fickleness of oil, grain, potash, oilseed and pulse crop prices and the good weather to grow them.

This year's will be the first budget balanced since current Premier Scott Moe took over from Wall. And Wall had his share of budget clunkers, including his last 2017-18 that led since he has left. "Saskatchewan people wanted to see a government that reflected their own pride in the province," Wall said in the interview, recalling the days when no one believed Sas-katchewan could obtain the national average of about oneper-cent growth a year. Elks donate $1,500 to Food Share Donations needed to fill the shelves for Christmas hampers

When the Moosomin Elks Club voted to donate money to the Moosomin Food Share again this year so that they can purchase food for Christmas hampers, Ron Potter says the club was unanimous in wanting to show their support again.

The Elks made a $1,500 donation last week to the food share, which has some bare shelves and needs to bulk them up in order to be able to fill the approximately 35

Christmas hampers they will give to the needy this year. "As opposed to putting stuff on the shelves, this way they can buy turkeys, hams, perishable stuff as they need it," says Potter.

"We wanted to do it before the Holiday Train comes so that they would have the cash, and with everything they get from the train, they will know what they need to buy."

"Samantha (Campbell) asked if we would help them out again this Christmas and I told her you are getting $1,500 for hams, turkeys—you can buy whatever they need," adds Brian Lindsay with the Elks.

"As you can see our shelves are getting fairly bare and we do rely heavily on the community and hope that we do have enough groceries to fill our shelves. It's extreme-

Is important and we appreciate everybody's effort," says Lori Shepherd with the food share. The hampers will include enough food for a nice dinner and Christmas morning breakfast as well. Food such as a ham or chicken, stuffing, bacon, pancake mix, and fresh vegetables will be included in the hampers.

Shepherd says Christmas is a time when the food share needs lots of donations, and adds that inflation and the rising cost of food has made it a bit tougher.

"We have to decide how our budget works for each food item. Sometimes we can't get all the things we want to get," she says. "I think we do so much for the clients in terms of variety now compared to years ago when we had just the basics.

"It's a balanced hamper," says Brianna Browman with the food share. "And we work with people's allergies or if they are gluten free or have intolerances. So we work around that which can be tricky sometimes. They always get fresh fruit and fresh produce, and they get their pan-try items and then they get a substantial amount of meat."

Twinkle Tour returns to Moosomin

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Moosomin's Twinkle Tour is returning for a third consecutive year People can take a tour around Moosomin from Dec. 1 to 10 to see all the decorated houses in town, and place their votes for their three favorite Christmas Light Displays. Votes can be sent to Rolna Pranke of RE/MAX through text, email, or on Facebook.

Pranke is also the spon-sor for the initiative. "This is the third year for the Twinkle Tour. It started back in 2020 when we were sort of limited on the things we could do and I thought this would be a fun idea, said Pranke.

"This is something all families can do. Everyone enjoys looking at Christmas lights and displays, we just want to encourage people to go out and enjoy all the work that people put into their yards and homes."

There will be prizes for the top three winners of the Twinkle Tour which will be announced on Dec. 12.

The first prize is $200 in Moosomin Bucks, the sec-ond prize in $150 of Moosomin Bucks, followed by $100 in Moosomin Bucks for the third prize.

Everyone who sends in their votes will also be entered in a draw to win one of three prizes of $50 Moosomin Bucks. "Even if you're from out of town you can drive around Moosomin and enter your votes," said Pranke.

"Everyone enjoys seeing Christmas lights, it doesn't matter how old you are."

People can contact Pran-ke at (306) 435-7343, or through her Facebook page: Rolna Pranke RE/MAX Blue Chip Realty.

They can also email her rpranke@remax-yorkat: ton ca

Little libraries set up across Moosomin

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Moosomin Library has set up five free little library shel-ters across town to encourage people to read and share books with the community. The little libraries were built by students of McNaughton

High School and installed in various locations across town by employees of the Town of Moosomin. "A huge thanks to Jeff and Carolyn St Onge and Mc-Naughton High School because they built, painted them, and put the logos on for us," said Vice Chair of Moosomin Library Brenda Higgins. "We're thankful for the town employees for installing them at our locations in town for us too.

After purchasing two little libraries for the town in the summer and it being a success, Higgins said she thought it would be a good idea to permanently place more in the area

"We purchased two little libraries last year from the Southeast Regional Library head office. There was one at the Borderland Coop Aquaplex and one at the Kinette playground near the football field," said Higgins.

"They were such a hit forward here, said higgins." "They were such a hit and we got really good feedback about them. For moms who were sitting at the pool while their kids were in swimming lessons, they would go and grab a book, or if they had little kids who weren't in swimming lessons and their big brother was in the pool, they would go grab a book."

Two of the little library shelters are at the Moosomin & District Regional Park, one of them is placed at Moosomin Cenotaph, another one is located at Sportsplex, and the last on is at the Remax corner in town.

Higgins said she appreciates the sponsors for the project, which were Karen and Louis Hebert, Heather Truman of Sew Creative & Interiors, HUB International in Moosomin and Rolna Pranke of RE/MAX. She explained how the library board came up with the idea for the project.

"Because they were so well received in the summer, I went to our board meeting and said, 'why don't we do this again and put some more up,'" said Higgins. "I sort of put it out there and said if we could get sponsorship for them it would not only be great advertising for the local businesses, but the libraries would be there for-"The way the little libraries work is, it's on the premise of take a book and leave a book. Our local library board always makes sure they're full. If we see they're getting a little low, we'll take some from our donation pile in the library or books that are no longer being used under the library system.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Be advised that the Council of the Town of Moosomin does have the following bylaw in effect, since January 21st, 2015:

Bvlaw No. 2015-01

"A Bylaw to Provide for Sump Pit and Surface Discharge" This bylaw sets out the following:

The owner of every newly constructed structure with a subsurface drainage system shall install a sump pit, sump pump and a dual discharge system such as to allow discharge to the surface, and into the sanitary sewer service.

The owner of any existing structure with a subsurface drainage system that currently has a sump pit and a sump pump, shall have a dual discharge system manufactured/created no later than December 31st, 2015, to allow discharge to the surface, and into the sanitary sewer service.

- (a)
- Discharging to the surface: i. Water collected in a sump pit during summer shall be discharged to the surface
 - (including weeping tile which must be drained to a sump pit). Discharge shall not be directed onto a porous ground surface within 4 meters (13.12 feet) of any building. Discharge shall be directed to a drain point on your property that will ii.
 - iii
 - not cause flooding to others. Discharge shall be directed to avoid excessive ponding or icing on iv. public or private property.
- Discharging into the sanitary sewer service: (b)
 - Water collected in a sump pit during winter may be discharged into the sanitary sewer service (including weeping tile which must be drained to a sump pit).

The Sump Pit and Surface Dickarge System shall be installed by a Journeyman Plumber in such a way, as to comply with all Town bylaws/policies and other applicable regulatory authorities.

The costs associated with installing a Sump Pit and Surface Discharge System will be the sole responsibility of the owner.

Note that the entire Bylaw can be viewed online at www.moosomin.com

As the Town continues to experience domestic sewer backups during significant rainfall events, the Town requests everyone to be aware of the requirements of this bylaw, and if your home or business still has storm water being pumped from sump pump pits into the domestic sewer, that you as a property owner are in contravention of the bylaw.

The Town asks that you please immediately take the necessary steps to ensure that storm water is being handled in accordance with this bylaw, in order to aid and/or avoid potential sewer backups from occurring in the future. Your co-operation is appreciated

Owner of Mane-Tain Hair Lounge & Gift Shoppe is ready for the Christmas season

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER A few years ago, Monica Beckett took over her grand-mother's gift shop and turned it into a salon and gift store. Located in Roçanville on Ellice Street, Mane-Tain Hair Lounge & Gift Shoppe offers unique gifts, decor, a space for hair appointments and also provides flower arrangenents throughout the year. They are especially busy with flowers during the holiday season. With the Christmas season approaching fast, Beckett said she looks forward to seeing what business will be like.

"I'm very excited, a bit nervous because it is kind of the first one after Covid," she said.

"Around this time people get excited about everyone coming together. It's nice to see everyone shopping and spending time together. It's just nice to have Christmas." Beckett spoke about what she enjoys most about the holiday season.

"Personally, I enjoy seeing that everyone's happy. Dur-"Christmas you get to spend time with people that you normally don't get to," she said.

same thing. You see customers that you may not see all year-around so you get to connect with them.

"Christmas is exciting because we get to put up five Christmas trees and everyone gets inspired for what they want to do for Christmas."

So far, the store has been pretty busy with back-to-back hair appointments, bookings for flower arrangements, and selling gifts. "We get a lot of local people. We had the Sip, Stroll and Shop a couple weeks ago in town, a lot of people from that came from Esterhazy, the Churchbridge area, we get eople from Maryfield, people from that whole area," said Beckett.

We get different people because of the mine too. People Supporting local businesses is important because it helps supporting local businesses is important excluse a helps support the community. Beckett added. "Because local businesses support hockey teams and fundraisers, without local businesses you don't have the money going into the community to help families with money going into the community to help failures what sports and other activities," she said. "Supporting local businesses creates a community too. If we didn't have any businesses on Main Street we'd be like a little village and not have much to do."

Being open for five years now, Beckett spoke about why she decided to have her own business in Rocanville.

Owner Monica Beckett of Mane-Tain Hair Lounge and Gift Shoppe in Rocanville has decorated the store with brand new Christmas items. She also does flower arrangements for families and businesses during the holidays.

"This shop was my grandma's. She owned it for about 20 to 21 years before 1 did," said Beckett. "Where the hair salon is in the store now, it used to be a framing business. I worked in Moosomin as a hairdresser before, but I helped my grandma here since, before I was 14. "Treally enjoyed the retail side of it, the flower side of it, and then when I was hairdressing in Moosomin, I wanted to be closer to home, which is in Rocanville.

to be closer to home, which is in Rocanville. "I decided it was time for her to retire and I should take over," laughed Beckett. "I just really enjoy doing more than one thing every day. I love the flowers for the wed-ding season, I like doing flowers for people to make their day because it always makes them happy. "I enjoy the retail, because I like to shop, it's fun getting to shop for the store, and I like doing hair. My favorite part about doing hair is peoplehy the setting and the hair cuts."

about doing hair is probably the styling and the hair cuts.' Beckett said she hopes it is busy for the holiday season.

We had a Christmas event and a ladies night two weeks ago. Then there's Late Night Shopping happening for two weeks before Christmas, hopefully we'll be busy "People also make flower arrangements for their tables at Christmas, they come to pick it up the day of or the day before.

Before becoming a business owner herself, Beckett said she always supported local shops. "I always tried to support local because I loved what lo-cal businesses had versus big box stores," said Beckett. "You can't get the same thing in every store. I always shopped in Moosomin for Christmas, I try to shop around tere.

"I think that's also why I went into business because it's fun to have local stuff in your own store. It's just really fun to support local. Us local people, we try really hard to get different things so that everyone who gets something different, it's unique which is why it's important for every-one to support each, individual place."

one to support each, individual place." Being a part of the community as a business owner also helps with business, added Beckett. "There's a lot of things I would buy for the store know-ing that so and so, would like this. You also think, 'some-one told me they like this,' and you try to build your in-ventory on that. Whereas if you went to Walmart, they don't care what you like or don't like." Beckett said she hopes people who have never been in-side her store come visit, and see what is there. "I have unique items that you may not be able to get

"I have unique items that you may not be able to get elsewhere," she said.

"There's more than one reason to stop in because there's flowers, there's jewelry, there's baby stuff, there's just more than one option to come inside."

Representing Moosomin Moosomin Economic Development Officer Casey McCormac and Borderland Co-op employee levgeniia Tsymbal represented Moosomin at a job fair in Saskatoon Wednesday aimed at displaced Ukrainians who have just arrived in Saskatchewan. They had lots of information on local amenities and job opportunities to share, and levgeniia's Ukrainian language skills came in handy communicating with the new arrivals.

On November 30, levgenila Tsymbal and I attended a Community and Career Fair hosted by SaskJobs in Saskatoon aimed at pairing displaced Ukrainians with careers.

With careers. Ievgenitia came with me as she speaks Ukrainian, which was a huge help. We went to represent Moosomin and show what a great community Moosomin is to live and work in and how support-ive Moosomin is to our new families that move here. move here.

We took pamphlets and information on jobs, housing, recreation, education, and healthcare as those are the most important things to look at when trying to decide where to start your life in a new country.

We also took copies of stories of Ukrai-nians being welcomed into the commu-nity as well as the past two weeks of the World-Spectator for them to read. It was an eye-opening experience for me to withouse.

Most of them were lost and didn't know what they wanted to do after having to leave their home country.

There were many professionals in all different kinds of industries and fields. We saw accountants, marketers, manufac-turing professionals, construction work-ers, bankers, and administrative workers. Many of them asked questions about the daycare and schools in our commu-

net adjuste and schools in our communi-nity as well as recreation and healthcare. Ievgeniia and I did our best to show how welcoming Moosomin is and what a great community it is to live, work, and

This was my first job fair as the Eco-nomic Development Officer and it was an amazing experience for me to be a part of. I'm sure there will be many more in the future, so that I can continue to show people how great Moosomin is!

Creative Vision directors happy with Beauty and the Beast

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

After dedicating long hours towards the show and working with two different casts to put together four performances of Beauty and the Beast during the weekend of Nov. 25 to 27, the directors of Creative Vision Productions were ecstatic with how the shows turned out.

"I'm thrilled with how the weekend went. It was great to see every seat filled, it was great to see everyone's hard work play out on the stage and be appreciated by so many people. I'm very proud," said Sherrie Meredith.

"My husband took amazing photos during the performances and the sets in the photos—we've always had good sets, but this was just a step up I think," Sandra Poole added.

"Sherrie did an amazing job with all of the 67 people to give them a place on stage. Everyone on stage was just so colorful, it was great." There were over 100 people involved in putting together

There were over 100 people involved in putting together this year's production of Beauty of the Beast, including the cast, production team, the band, costume and set design, sound, lighting, and backstage crew.

"That's an amazing amount of people to work with. The sound was absolutely phenomenal as well," said Meredith. "The harmonies that the band came up with, that Sandra coached, it all came together to make a perfect performance."

During the week of the show, the cast and production teams were working extremely hard in preparation for the weekend of back-to-back performances.

"We started bringing in one thing at a time to practice at the MCC right after Remembrance Day," Meredith said. "We had tech rehearsals, we had dress rehearsals, we had

"We had tech rehearsals, we had dress rehearsals, we had two casts. We ran the two shows with different casts all the way through. We also worked on getting the sound tweaked because we had sound technicians who came down from Brandon. There was a lot of work to be done and a lot of hours put in, but it's a labour of love for everyone." Poole spoke about why she enjoys committing her time to Poole spoke about why she enjoys committing her time to working towards directing a big production such as Beauty and the Beast.

"We love working with people and showing them off, we really do," she said with a smile.

"Just seeing everyone with their costumes and being proud, also just working as a group. The exciting part is seeing that they're a team who support each other and that's the most important part.

"It was a lot of fun, even one person who was new to the crew asked if we could do more performances, but we always want to leave it on a high note."

"Sandra and I make a good team," added Meredith. "I think that all of the people who come on board create a wonderful ensemble. It's the product of very many people, it's not just Sandra and I. It's so many people that come with their skills and their talents, and to give an avenue to the arts community to share those talents, whether you're seven years old or 90 years old, to me there's nothing better."

Directors Poole and Meredith said Creative Vision Production has an idea of what their next project will be for 2024, however they are keeping their minds open.

2024, however they are keeping their minds open. "We need to find out the demographics, we have things in the back of our minds, but we're not going to know for another two years to see who's in the community and who will be on board," said Poole.

"We're not going to spill any beans until we find out what's going to happen two years from now." $\!\!\!$

Some of my greatest memories were made when play-ing summer hockey for a few different teams - ManSask Wolfpack, Regina Cougars, and the Yorkton Predators. In my Bantam AA year, I was scouted and asked to play Midget AAA in Omaha, Nebraska. We made the long drive of 13 hours to discover this huge city where I would spend the next two years playing hockey in the HPHL-High Performance Hockey League and also at-tending high school in the USA. I left home at the age of 14 to play for a coach that was Montreal Canadians' long-time defenseman player, Dave Wilke. Dave was quickly promoted to the Omaha Lancers of the USHL and was replaced by NHLer Jeff Hogan. Both these coaches taught me a lot during my time in Omaha

CAREER OPPORTUNITY

Gas Bar/Liquor Store Manager MOOSOMIN C-STORE/LIQUOR STORE

Borderland Co-op is hiring a Gas Bar/Liquor Store Manager at our Moosomin Gas Bar and Liquor Store.

WHO WE ARE:

Co-op does business differently. As a co-operative, we believe in working together to serve Western Canadians, delivering profits back to our communities and investing in sustainable growth. To learn more about who we are and how you can help bring our brand to life, visit us at www.borderlandco-op.crs

WHAT YOU'LL DO:

The Manager is responsible for day to day operations of the gas bar, liquor store, and cardlock as well as preparing and administering sales, margin, expenses, inventory, and ensuring that all merchandising standards, marketing efforts, employee relations and loss prevention standards are maintained. The Gas Bar/Liquor Store Manager is also responsible for the development of annual budgets and ensuring that claims, invoices and all other administration paperwork is done in a timely manner

WHY IT MATTERS:

Our team provides a range of products and services to support our member-owners. Through the work that we do, we help to build, fuel, feed and grow Western Canadian communities together.

WHO YOU ARE:

- You are looking for a career in Retail Store Operations and: You have 3 5 years management or supervision experience.
- · You're familiar with gas bar and convenience/liquor store operations
- · You're honest and trustworthy, are results-oriented and strive to be the best in what you do.
- You believe in building relationships and collaborating to deliver solutions that matter most, and you recognize the value that different perspectives bring to meet shared objectives

Our Team Members receive competitive salaries, a comprehensive benefits package and an employer-contributed pension plan. We encourage our Team Members to take advantage of learning opportunities, to grow and develop and to foster a culture of teamwork and innovation. At Co-op, we embrace diversity and inclusion, and we're working to create a workplace that is as diverse as the communities we serve. We support and provide an environment that allows all to bring their whole selves to work.

Apply via email by December 22, 2022 via email to borderland.crs or contact us for more information

We thank all candidates for their interest; however, only those selected to continue in the recruitment process will be contacted.

Angels Anonymous

A Dairy Queen initiative to help families in need during the Christmas season

Angels Anonymous has been in operation in Mooso-min and surrounding areas for over twenty years. It is a Dairy Queen initiative and all gifts donated through this program are given to families who could use a little more during the Christmas season. Dairy Queen has Angels Anonymous tags on their Christmas tree with fictitious names and ages of children which community members can pick up and purchase age-appropriate gifts for and return, unwrapped to the Dairy Queen. Lana McCormac, a teacher at MacLeod Elementary School and Margie Gibson, a teacher at McNaughton High School are the coordinators who work with school counsellors, staff, and community to create a list of chilcounsellors, staff, and community to create a list of children and youth in the community who could use some Christmas magic.

Coordinators contact families to verify that they would like to be a part of the program and names and ages of children are verified

The only people who know the family names are the two coordinators.

Once gifts have been collected, the coordinators match gifts to children and youth and separate them into family groupings, and volunteers work to wrap the gifts. Once gifts are wrapped, the coordinators label them and bag family gifts together for pick up or delivery. If you or anyone you know could use a little Christmas assistance, please contact Lana McCormac at lana.mccormac@secpsd.ca or Margie Gibson at Margie.gibson@ secpsd.ca. The information that we require includes par-ent names, names and ages of children, and contact infor-mation for the family.

In the past few years, we have been able to help as many as thirty families or more each Christmas season, and it is such a worthy cause to support our families in and it is such a worthy cause to support our failures in need in our community. Angels Anonymous could not operate without the gen-erosity of the people who buy gifts, volunteers who wrap the gifts, the willingness of the management and staff of Discourse and our coordinators. We are appreciative and thankful for each and every one of you.

Looking Back

Ten years ago, 2012: Councillor Garry Beckett, who was also director of the thrift store and food bank, asked council to consider cancelling the property taxes on the thrift store and food bank buildings that were on Main Street. At the time the town cancelled taxes annually for the Community Theatre, the Moosomin and District Museum, the Pipestone Kin-Ability Centre and the Armoury Hall. The churches and Royal Canadian Legion also didn't pay property tax, as well as the curling club and bowling alley as they are on town land, the Integrated Care Centre, and the schools. The previous year the Thrift Store and Food Bank paid $2,376.14 in taxes.

Council voted to provide the food bank with a $2,000 grant for 2012. Fifteen years ago, 2007: The Grey Cup was in the area where it was featured at events on the Manitoba-Saskatchewan boundary and in downtown Moosomin. Premier Brad Wall flew to Moosomin to unveil a new sign at the Manitoba-Sas-katchewan boundary welcoming visitors.

Twenty years ago, 2002: Rudi Swieg-ers of Wawota and Kristi Bonkowski of Moosomin placed top in the province for scores at the BMO Skate Canada Western Challenge.

Thirty years ago, 1992: Video Lottery Terminals would be set up in Moosomin-area bars early in 1993. The machines would be installed in hotel bars and restaurant lounges, and they would not be available to minors. The machines would be out of sight from any minors and the Saskatchewan Gaming Commission would stay strict on that
