Langenburg students visit Rocanville ski trails

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS

Around 250 students from Langenburg Central School came out to Rocanville Cross Country Ski trails from March 8 to 10, as part of their outdoor physical education.

During the pandemic, teachers and parents from Langenburg Central School fundraised $30,000 worth of skiing equipment, snow shoes, and built a shed at the school to store all of the equipment.

"Over Covid, when we were getting pushed outdoors for phys-ed because of all of the things going on, we decided to turn it into an initiative at our school where we did this outdoor recreational project," said Luke Krienke, physical education teacher at Langenburg Central School.

"We reached out to some of our big sponsors, Mosaic, Brooks Mack Law, Family and Friends, and we had a few other locals as well.

"We ended up raising about $30,000. We got 75 sets of cross country skis for our kids, 65 sets of snowshoes, and our shop kids built us a shed. We paid for the materials for the shed out of that fundraising.

"We have a shed outside of our school building now. Our shop teacher has built us a groomer for us to groom our school yard because we don't have anything like this.

"If we lived a little closer to these trails, we could come out here for classes, but now we just do an annual trip every year where we come out."

All of the Grade 1 to Grade 10 students from the school came out to the trails with their own equipment in groups, from Wednesday to Friday.

"We came out here last year and it was our first time," said Krienke.

"We just brought out our middle years and our senior kids last time. This year we've got our elementary kids down to Grade 3 as well."

Layne McFarlane, president of Rocanville Cross-Country Ski Club, said it's great to see the trails be used by students.

"It's wonderful to see," McFarlane said smiling.

"We're just a small group that volunteers to create the trails, and to see them used like this and appreciated, is really amazing.

"It's sort of like you're coaching hockey or figure skating or something else, and you see a lot of interest in it. It's really encouraging."

Krienke said introducing students to an activity such as cross-country skiing is great for physical education.

"Part of the curriculum is our outdoor education piece, for getting out to other environments," he said.

"This, basically costs the kids nothing to come out and do. We do go downhill skiing too, but the cost is high. It's a good experience for the kids too, but this is just an experience the kids can come and do.

"It's low impact, it's not quite as scary for some of the younger ones to come out. And, it's something they don't get the chance to do that often either. It's a different experience for them to get out and get active as well."

SARM aims to attract the next generation to rural government

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS

The Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities (SARM) is aiming to attract the next generation to get involved through the rural municipal government.

As more young families are calling rural Saskatchewan home, recruitment of the next generation is vital to maintaining a healthy rural municipal government, SARM stated.

"This is something our SARM board has been talking about for a while," said Ray Orb, President of SARM.

"Also, we can see what's happening in rural Saskatchewan. We can see the demographics of our councils.

"We have a lot of older councillors, I'm one of them. I've been involved with council for quite a few years, also with SARM too. I think we would like to see more young people or new people being attracted to council, and to getting elected into council.

"We put this out for people to start thinking about, and to be able to help us come up with some solutions on how to attract people.

"We have some ideas of our own, but we would really like to talk to our members too."

During SARM's 118th Convention on March 15th, members will hear from current RM council members about bridging the aging demographic with SARM members and recruiting future diverse young leaders in rural Saskatchewan.

Orb spoke about a few of the ideas he has in mind for attracting young people to council.

"I have ideas and our board does too," he said.

"Perhaps career fairs and things like that would help. Even going to local high schools, getting people that are in the later grades especially who are interested in maybe getting elected into a council.

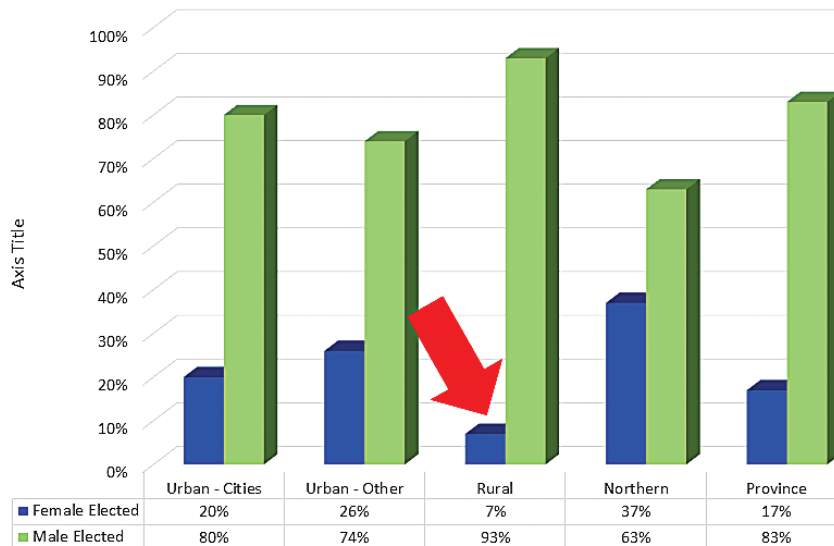

"I know there's some RMs that had some junior members sitting at their council meetings as advisory members.

"They're not elected, but they're sitting as an advisor. It could be as a youth councillor, maybe a 4H councillor, things like that.

The Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities (SARM) is calling out for ideas on how to bring younger and new people into being a part of rural municipal governments at their next SARM convention on March 15.

I think all of those ideas will help. We're hoping we can get some feedback at our convention about this as well."

Orb spoke about the advantages and differences he has seen from being a part of a rural municipal government.

"I think it's really important for everyone out in rural Saskatchewan to see what the role is for the council and reeves, and the administration as well," he said.

"Obviously working through SARM there's a chance to advance Ag policy. We have a lot of policy people that work within SARM, but helping attract economic development into your rural areas too. Even right now, attracting rural doctors and nurses, there's a role for the municipal council to be able to do that.

"Also the RCMP and policing, sub-committees provide housing for some of these people. Veterinarians are another one. For a number of years there have been quite a few RMs that have jointly owned veterinary clinics.

"It all helps in the speed of things to work together. I think that's the role that I see, good governance is the other thing. Getting that message out of what the RM is doing, what they plan to do, like infrastructure and improvements. Communicating to the members to really make sure that they understand what's going on, and also to get feedback from them.

"That's one of the reasons why we put out this press release. We wanted to draw attention to that."

Aside from aiming to involve more young people in rural municipal government, Orb said they hope to get more women involved as well.

"We don't have a lot of women on council, but we'll be pushing for that at our convention," he said.

"We have about seven per cent of women on council. I've noticed over the years we have more women now than we did five or 10 years ago, but it's not increasing as much as I would've thought.

"For the administration side it has changed a lot. Now we have a lot of women that are administrations whereas 20 years ago we had mostly men."

Orb was asked if he thinks bringing in younger and new people on council will improve governance.

"It's diversity that we're saying we need more of, and a part of that is young people being involved as well, women being involved as well," he said.

"They bring in a different point of view in a lot of cases.

"People like my own age, you know, I'm getting to the stage where I'm getting to the end of my own municipal career. Obviously that all helps in the decision making because different points of view, lead to different outcomes."

The new SARCAN building in The Town of Redvers is currently under construction and is expected to be finished by May. The other section of the building will also be used for Evergreen Construction and its restoration company.

Upcoming projects in Redvers: new SARCAN building, Kubota dealership underway

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS

With a few ongoing projects being developed in the Town of Redvers, the owner of Evergreen Construction said he is excited for his business to have a dedicated facility in town, and for the community to have a new SARCAN building.

"The front 85 feet of the building will be for the new SARCAN, and then the back 60 feet will be for our construction company and for restoration company," said Tyson George, owner of Evergreen Construction.

The total size of the building is 7,400 square feet. Due to the town's old SARCAN building not having enough room to crush the recycled bottles and cans that are being brought in, the need for a bigger facility in the community became apparent.

"The front of the SARCAN building will be where guests can bring in their bottles then at the back they can do all of the crushing," said George.

"The other SARCAN building is in dire need for some upgrades and renovations. Before I bid on it, I went to the new Melville one and I took a look around to get an idea of what they wanted and what kind of quality of stuff they wanted, all of that.

"I talked to the workers there and they said a new facility for them to work in that's clean and where everything is up to date, instead of working with old stuff where everything takes longer, that a new building is just better for everyone.

"That's why they needed a new building here. They're getting bigger and more volume, so they can handle more with the bigger building."

Aside from the building being used for SARCAN, it will also serve as George's first dedicated space for his business.

"I've been running my business out of my farm before this. We do have an office on Main Street right now where our bookkeeper is, and we have a few houses that we work out of, but this will be our first work building," said George.

"This is a big step for us, but it's definitely exciting. It's something to look forward to.

"Our space will mainly be for equipment. We do a lot of cabinets and home projects. This will be a place to get everything from, and get organized with our staff in the morning.

"Our restoration company needs a huge spot to clean all of our equipment and stuff like that. This will be a location for the starting point of everyday as well."

George said he expects the construction of the building to be finished by May. He said he is looking forward to the project being completed.

"This will be year eight since I started the business. This will definitely grow our business, and for SARCAN, a cleaner and newer building is going to be great," he said.

"We plan to do a lot of landscaping around it, once we get the building made, to make it more appealing because there's going to be a lot more people coming in. The closest SARCAN to here is in Moosomin, all of our in-laws are out by Carleton Place and Gainsborough so a lot of them come here.

"There's a lot of people that are going to see it, that's why we want to put some curb appeal out front just to add a little bit, because there's going to be lots of people coming in and out."

Progress on Kubota dealership

Another ongoing project that is happening in the community of Redvers is the building of a new Kubota dealership.

Redvers Ag took on the Kubota brand two years ago. The owner, Perry Dangstorp, said having the new business in town will be a great addition to the community and surrounding area.

"We would be the only Kubota dealership between Estevan and Yorkton. It's pretty much our job to service a 60 mile radius of Redvers," he said.

"For the town, we've added three staff which is good because it's added more jobs. Then from the previous stuff we sold there was no product overlap. It's all new stuff that we're selling."

Dangstorp said the construction for the dealership is expected to be finished by the end of summer and should be in use by December.

Bedecs business owner proud of development in Redvers

Being a part of a family business that has been in Redvers for 60 years, Frank Bedecs said he is proud to see local businesses in the community continue to grow and flourish in the Town of Redvers.

"Any development that happens in a smaller community promotes every business in town," Bedecs said, he is the owner of Bedecs Ready Mix Ltd.

"It brings employees, it brings families, obviously the housing market develops even more too. I've noticed in the last year, and this year, that Redvers is having a little bit more growth than other towns.

"Any time you bring even one family into a smaller community, it makes a difference."

Bedecs said it is important for local businesses to work together, and for neighboring communities to support one another.

"If we didn't support one another then you wouldn't have a community," he said.

"You're hurting yourself if you don't help everyone else. That's what I see, and that's what we've been doing for 60 years. We don't just develop one spot, we develop a whole southeast corner as a whole with advertising, with donations. It helps everyone out."

He said he is looking forward to the new SARCAN building being completed, along with Evergreen Construction and the Kubota dealership having a space for business in town.

Former Moosomin & District Music Festival Student: Abrahamson receives Stan Morris Excellence in Handbell Teaching Award

The Alberta Guild of English Handbell Ringers has awarded Karen Abrahamson of Edmonton with the 2022 Stan Morris Excellence in Handbell Teaching Award.

Karen is from the Moosomin area and has been a music educator for more than 20 years, working in the public education system in two districts and with a variety of students, from kindergarten to junior high. Before embarking on her career in education, Karen was a student who participated in the Moosomin & District Music Festival.

It's clear that Karen too, excels in these areas of teaching. This award represents Stan's efforts to help teachers develop the skills, knowledge, ability, experience and proficiency they needed to create school handbell programs and to develop extra-curricular choirs.

It also celebrates his efforts to help create ALGEHR, which continues to help promote the development of the Handbell Arts in Alberta.

Teepee Project

What an amazing project the local Métis Association has undertaken at Bradley Park. This will cement in our community a piece of our history!

A couple weeks back the poles were put in place for an over 30 foot teepee structure. What comes next is just as exciting!

- Tarp structure will cover the teepee
- Cedar decking will go in place
- Traditional trees and shrubs will be planted
- A historical "Red River" Wagon will go in place
- A kiosk will be installed with traditional language recordings along with information on the historical trees, and shrubs, as well as mapping installed on the kiosk

Once complete this will become an instant attraction as, to our knowledge, it is the only enclosed teepee located on municipal land. I can tell you our local Métis Nation has invested countless hours into this project and it is now just months from coming to fruition.

Communities in Bloom

We are so excited to return to the Communities in Bloom contest offered through the Saskatchewan Parks and Recreation Association. Making this year even more exciting will be the fact for the first time we will be making a regional entry comprised of the Town of Moosomin, Moosomin Regional Park, and Moosomin Pipestone Hills Golf Club. The three along with our Chamber of Commerce will comprise an Executive Planning Committee, however we will have our secondary planning committee for the Town of Moosomin. I am sure both the Regional Park and Pipestone Hills Golf Club will also welcome members to their secondary committee.

Mike Schwean Arena - Special Events

We have had an absolute ton of special events already this winter and we still have lots planned for the spring of 2023. Here is a list of what remains on our schedule:

Wheatland Wild	March 18
Wheatland Wild	March 26
2023 Iron Man Tournament	March 30 - April 1
2011 Wheatland Wild Tournament	April 2

Mix in tons of minor hockey games and we end up with wall to wall activity all March long!

Moosomin Senior Rangers

When Covid hit the Rangers were unable to cross provincial borders and as such their play in the North Central Hockey League came to an end. The team looked at league options and the best fit seemed to be the Big Six Hockey League. It checked all the boxes. Long history, tremendous talent, great rivals...considered by hockey insiders to be a Division 1 League (top end talent). Then came the pessimists who told them they weren't good enough to play in the Big Six.

The executive rolled up their sleeves and said..."well let's get good enough!"

The first year in the league the team finished fourth out of nine teams. They won a playoff round and advanced to the league semifinal.

Now in year two the team has taken another step finishing third out of 11 teams. They have won back to back playoff rounds and for the first time since 2004 they have advanced to the Big Six League Championship Series.

Awaiting them now is an absolute beast of a team in the Redvers Rockets...but you know what...I think the guys are ready to compete! For those that said we weren't good enough two years ago...well where did you go?

There is an age old saying in sports—you are always going somewhere. Some teams are getting better...some teams are getting weaker. Clearly this Rangers team is trending in the right direction!

As of last Thursday, I did not have the final series dates, but feel free to contact the Rec Office this week and I can give details on the schedule or check our Parks and Rec Facebook site!

to Welwyn on Tuesday, staying once again with Ken and Donald Taylor. They attended their nephew Zen Taylor Bell's hockey game in Esterhazy that evening. On Wednesday they travelled to Esterhazy to attend the funeral of their late Aunt Bertha Bittner's husband, George. Again they met numerous cousins and their growing children. This was a bitter-sweet reunion of family.

SaskTel expanding fibre optic internet Construction under way in Moosomin, Esterhazy

SaskTel announced the 48 communities it plans to bring SaskTel infinet service to as part of the sixth phase of its $200 million Rural Fibre Initiative.

The list at right shows the full list of communities.

Construction is already well under way in Moosomin and Esterhazy in Phase 3, and Rocanville and Kipling will be completed in Phase 4.

SaskTel plans to begin construction for Phase 6 in 2023/24 and anticipates all communities included in the Rural Fibre Initiative will be fibre-ready by the end of March 2025.

"A key part of our government's plan to build a stronger Saskatchewan is to invest in the infrastructure that will allow our province to continue to grow and prosper," said Don Morgan, Minister Responsible for SaskTel.

"Through the Rural Fibre Initiative, SaskTel is expanding their advanced fibre optic broadband network to towns and villages across Saskatchewan, and ensuring more families and businesses have access to the same online resources, tools, and opportunities as those living in larger urban centres."

"Delivering speeds of up to a Gigabit per second, our infinet network ensures SaskTel customers have the bandwidth they need to surf, stream, and connect in real-time," said Doug Burnett, SaskTel President and CEO. "In addition, by upgrading our broadband networks to fibre, we will be better able to deploy future enhancements to keep pace with our customer's evolving bandwidth needs, especially as smart technology become more common in both the home and workplace."

"This important investment from SaskTel will put smaller communities like the Village of Borden on a level playing field in terms of accessing reliable advanced fibre optic broadband technology. This new infrastructure will help us attract new businesses and residents to Borden and help those already living and working in Borden to expand their earning and learning potential. This is a great day for the Village of Borden and all of Saskatchewan. Thank you SaskTel and the government of Saskatchewan," said Jamie Brandrick, Mayor of the Village of Borden. Borden has a population of 278.

The Rural Fibre Initiative is a multi-phase program that will see SaskTel invest $200 million to bring infinet service to over 110,000 residents and businesses living and operating in more than 130 rural communities.

Once the announced phases of the Rural Fibre Initiative are complete, SaskTel's infinet network, which is already Saskatchewan's largest fibre optic broadband network, will reach approximately 80 per cent of all households in the province.

The continued expansion of its infinet and 5G networks is part of SaskTel's commitment to invest more than $1.5 billion in capital across Saskatchewan over the next five years.

The towns of Redvers, Whitecourt, Wawota and Wapella are not on the list up to Phase 6, although some much smaller centres are on the list.

Esterhazy installs security cameras at town shop

BY SIERRA D'SOUZA BUTTS

At last week's Esterhazy town council meeting, Community Development and Recreation Director Garth Forster informed council that he will be getting a quote for lights that could be used for the town's security cameras.

After two break-ins at the town shop a few weeks ago, the town installed security cameras at the shop and at the town office. However, due to needing additional lighting within the area to help view the security camera footage, Forster spoke about installing lights at the yard.

Forster said he will be getting a quote for lights. He will also be looking at a quote for lights to place at the town's outdoor arena as well.

Commissionaires hired for 2023

Council approved a motion to hire Commissionaires South Saskatchewan for 2023. The commissionaires come into town to help with enforcing town bylaws.

From January 1 to March 31, they were hired for four hours per month. From April 1 to October 31, they were hired for six hours per week. From November 1 to December 31, they were hired for four hours per month.

Council found that their assistance was needed more during the spring and summer months, as opposed to the winter time, which is why their hours are shorter during the winter season.

Residential storage bin request

Council passed a motion to approve a resident's request for placing a temporary storage container on their property, located on Sussex Avenue.

The resident requested to place a storage bin from March to September, as he will be doing extensive work on his property, and needed room to store household items for the time being.

Council said because the resident followed all of the town's rules and regulations for having a temporary storage container, they approved the request.

Town meets with Emmanuel Health

CAO Mike Thorley informed council about the meeting he, the mayor and two councillors attended with Emmanuel Health on Feb. 27. The purpose of the meeting was to meet Emmanuel Health's new President and Chief Executive Officer, Corey Miller. As well to discuss if Emmanuel Health will be involved with planning for a new hospital in the future.

Thorley said they will keep communication open with Emmanuel Health before any decisions are made about the hospital project.

Update on fire halls

Councillor Earl Nickel informed council about his visit to fire halls in the area, and the quotes he got.

"I took a tour of fire halls last week, Gord and I stopped in Lanigan, Dalmeny, Warman and Kindersley," said Nickel.

"Dalmeny has a brand new building, but they built theirs with public works. That was 2.4 million.

"Warman has an older building, they've added on to theirs. We have a bunch of pictures that we'll put together and get some numbers. The one that was really impressive was Kindersley. They opened theirs last September, they have 14,000 square feet. They have a training room, a meeting room, a couple of offices, a weight room, and they have a bunker gear room. "Theirs was $2.4 million, but they started building it in 2019 and they didn't open it until last year."

The visits to other fire halls are part of creating a comprehensive package to present to the fire board for Esterhazy Fire Department's plan on building a new fire hall.

Auditor reviews financial statements with council

Auditor Gary Kreklewich from Pra-rie Strong, Chartered Professional Accountants reviewed the town's 2022 audited financial statements with council at Wednesday's meeting.

The audit of the town's financial statements was done professionally by the accountant. Kreklewich reviewed the audit with council in case they had any questions.

The auditor also thanked CAO Mike Thorley and town employees for the work they had done in preparation for the audit.

Council passed a motion to approved the audit of their financial statements for 2022.

Progress on water treatment plant

CAO Mike Thorley informed council that the walls for the town's Water Treatment Plant building have been put up, and that more work is still needed to be done before putting the roof up.

"There has to be a certain temperature for the sealant that's going to be used," said Thorley.

"That's why we halted the project for a bit because we didn't think it could happen in the winter time.

The workers have to provide us with a review of that prior to installing the roof, to make sure that it will work properly."

Thorley stated that the progress for the building of the water treatment plant is going well.

"They're currently getting the rest of the stuff going, and we'll get our building up as quickly as we can from there," he said.

Town will be following up on cyber security

At Wednesday's meeting, Mayor Grant Forster asked if the town has any coverage on cyber security.

Aside from the general insurance the town has, CAO Mike Thorley said he will look further into the matter to see if the town already has or can have additional security measures.

FINANCIAL PLANNING

Investors often ask: Is now a good time to invest?

The real meaning behind the question is more likely that investors want to know if their investment will go up rather than down. In truth, it's impossible to know when the "perfect" time to invest is. Rather, if investors are nervous about when to invest, we would suggest buying in regular increments—perhaps monthly or quarterly—as trying to time the market is an exercise in futility.

One of the main reasons to avoid market timing is that it's incredibly difficult to predict when the market will rise or fall. Even the most experienced analysts and economists cannot predict market movements. By trying to time the market, you're essentially trying to predict the unpredictable, and success is improbable.

As an example, we assume three investors make annual lump-sum equity investments of $10,000 each year over 20 years. The first, let's call him Always Right, times the market perfectly every year and buys at the market low. The second, Always Wrong, has terrible timing and invests at the market high for the year, every year. The third investor, Always Consistent, makes his investment on the last trading day of December, every year, like clockwork.

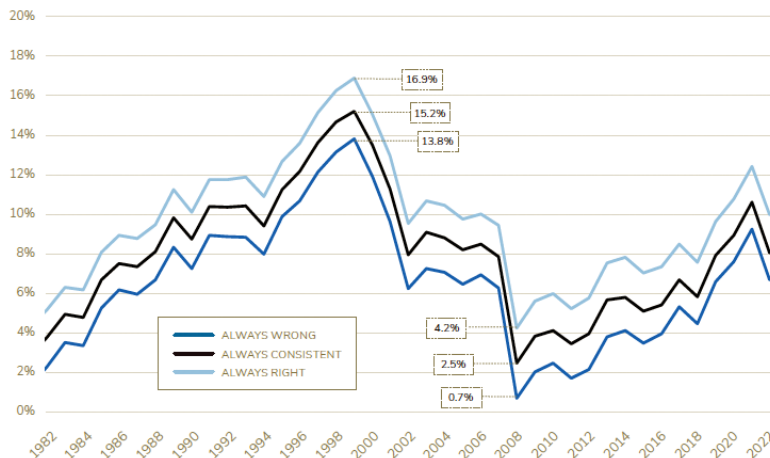

We looked at the historical outcomes of each investor on a 20-year basis from 1962 to 1982 and roll forward for every 20-year period ending 2022. The best 20-year period fell between 1979 and 1999. Yet the annualized difference in return between Always Right and Always Wrong was only 3.1%.

Looking at Always Consistent, he fell roughly in the middle. More importantly, the likelihood of timing the investment on the best trading day in a year is 1/250. To try and execute this perfectly for 20 years is a near impossibility—just as it is to have the worst timing every year.

Another point to consider is that trying to time the market can lead to emotional

20-year rolling annualized return of lump-sum investments on the year's low (Always Right), high (Always Wrong) or December 31 of each year (Always Consistent) biases, such as fear of missing out (FOMO) or fear of losing money (FOLM), which can cause you to make irrational decisions.

Consistently investing in the market—either monthly or quarterly, regardless of the current price—can help you avoid these emotional biases and ensure a steady investment outcome.

This strategy may not be as exciting as trying to time the market, but it's been proven to be the most effective way to grow your wealth over the long-term.

On February 28, RCMP received a complaint of a break and enter into the Broadview curling rink that took place on the night of February 27. Approximately $300 was taken from a cash box as well as six chocolate bars. A large amount of alcohol and other confectionery items were untouched. Forensic Identification Services processed the scene for fingerprints and is still investigating the break and enter. RCMP is requesting anyone with information about this incident to contact the Broadview RCMP by calling 306-696-5200. Please help us identify the person responsible. Information can be submitted anonymously through CrimeStoppers by calling 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or submitting a tip online at www.saskcrimestoppers.com.

Driver fined for unsecured cargo

On February 28, RCMP were called to a transport on Highway 1 near Whitewood hauling lumber. Several straps were undone and flailing in the wind behind the vehicle as it drove down the highway. RCMP stopped the truck and determined that several bundles of lumber were not strapped down on the trailer. RCMP issued a fine to the driver for having cargo not secured.

Break and enter into the Whitewood Harmony Club

On February 28 at 10:45 pm RCMP received a call about a break and enter into the Harmony Club located at 806 Green Street, Whitewood. A small grey car was observed circling the building at approximately 10:30 pm. The front

RCMP giving presentations at schools as much as possible

Your Broadview RCMP hit the schools this week completing presentations and talks to students on several key issues including drugs, drinking and driving, cyber bullying and internet safety. Your Broadview RCMP have been trying to get into the schools as much as possible this year after missing out for several years due to Covid protocols. Some officers even managed to get a quick game of badminton in at Kakisiwew School on Ochapowace First Nation.

door was pushed open and damaged. Multiple items including a printer, PA system, as well as a wellness program weigh scale were taken. RCMP responded to a separate incident in Kipling that I will have more information on next week. These items along with other possible stolen items were recovered at the residence in Kipling and a male from the residence was charged with possession of stolen property and theft. RCMP is requesting anyone with information about this incident to contact the Broadview RCMP by calling 306-696-5200. Information can be submitted anonymously through CrimeStoppers by calling 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or submitting a tip online at www.saskcrimestoppers.com.

Intoxicated male agrees to leave

On March 1, RCMP were called to a residence on Cowessess First Nations where an adult male was intoxicated and causing problems. RCMP attended and located the male who was not wanted at the residence. The male was in good spirits and was compliant and polite with RCMP officers. The male agreed to leave the residence and was given a courtesy ride to his mother's residence in order to avoid a trip to the King's Hotel.

Fight between brothers

On March 1, RCMP responded to a fight between two brothers on Cowessess First Nations. RCMP attended and the fight had been broken up and one brother had already left the residence. No one would advise police what took place as they did not want a criminal investigation to take place.

Male hit and pushed female

On March 2, RCMP attended an assault that took place on Kakhewistahaw First Nations. A male had hit and pushed a female in the residence. The male was arrested and charged with assault. The male was then transported to Broadview where he spent the night at the 2.5-star King's Hotel.

Female assaulting elderly male

On March 3, RCMP were contacted by Co-op Grocery store in Grenfell. They provided video footage of a female hitting and assaulting an elderly male in the store. RCMP are in the process of following up with the male to obtain a statement so charges can be laid on the female in question.

Scam of the week

On March 4, RCMP received another "sextortion" complaint. This occurred when a male from the community thought he was "snapchatting" with a female who lived in Saskatchewan. The person turned out to be recording and making copies of the sexual photos and conversation. The scammer threatened to share the explicit content online and to his friends and family if the male refused to pay money. In this case the male had already sent the fraudster $3,665.81 to a PayPal account.

Sextortion seems to be becoming more and more common with today's social media (Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat). Scammers create fake profiles on social media accounts and dating websites. They use these profiles to lure victims into a sexual relationship and coerce them into performing sexual acts on camera. Often these scammers will have very attractive women or men on the other side of the video performing sexual acts to add credibility. The scammer records these video and photo sessions and threatens to send the images or videos to all your friends and family unless you pay them or provide more sexual content.

I have dealt with these scams where victims have sent money and then once the money is sent and received they demand more money. Whether you send money to the scammer or not, the scammer can still send the video to your friends and family members on the social media. The victims of these crimes usually feel immense pressure to pay the scammer as they do not want the embarrassment of their spouses, family or children seeing the photos or videos. Please be safe online.

Male kicks female in the head

On March 5, RCMP attended an assault where a male had kicked a female in the head on Ochapowace First Nations. RCMP attended and the highly intoxicated male fled the scene and ran into the near by trees. RCMP were very worried about the intoxicated male freezing due to his degree of intoxication and the cold weather.

RCMP were able to locate the male who had fallen down in the snow approximately 100 metres into the bush. RCMP arrested the male and lodged him in the warm and cozy King's Hotel. The male has remained in RCMP custody until he can answer for his charges.

Looking Back

Five years ago, 2018

Donations rolled in for the purchase of an aerial platform truck for the Moosomin Fire Department. The truck allowed the fire department to fight fires and perform rescues at a higher elevation than they could before. Pattison Ag donated $5,000, Mullett's RONA donated $3,000, and Flammans and Parrish and Heimbecker also both donated $2,000 each for the truck.

Ten years ago, 2013:

Saskatchewan had the lowest unemployment rate in Canada, at 3.8 per cent (seasonally adjusted), the lowest since November 2008 when it was 3.7 per cent and well below the national rate of 7.0 per cent.

Saskatchewan Premier Brad Wall said Canada hasn't done a great job promoting the Keystone XL pipeline as he embarked upon a full court press in the U.S. capital to extol the virtues of the controversial project by lauding Canada's green credentials.

Fifteen years ago, 2008:

PotashCorp Rocanville made a donation to the Spy Hill Lions Club. The $5,000 donation helped an upgrading project at the community hall in Spy Hill, including purchasing some new chairs and doing some general upgrades to the building.

Twenty years ago, 2003:

Sherri Metz of the Fairlight Community Club presented a pledge for $10,000 toward Moosomin's new health care facility.

The Ron Frape rink, consisting of Ron Frape (skip), Joyce Frape (third), Bev Heathcoat (second), and Colleen Hanson (lead), were overjoyed when their team had an eight-rock end in the Annual Mixed Bonspiel. They had only seen an end like that once before in their lives and that was ten years earlier.

One hundred years ago, 1923:

In the House of Commons there was a discussion as to whether candy was a luxury or not. John Millar (Progressive, Qu' Appelle) said that candy was a luxury. It was said that a young man spent eight dollars on a box for a young lady which brought laughter and cries of "shame." The amount of money that he spent on the chocolate is equivalent to $139.42 in 2023.

Fleming beat Moosomin seven to six in a hockey game. Moosomin led five to two in the third period but Fleming staged a desperate rally in the final ten minutes of the game and it paid off!

March 3, 2023

Ethel Rookes, beloved wife of the late Doug Rookes of Virden, Manitoba passed away peacefully with family by her side at Westman Nursing Home, Virden on Friday, March 3, 2023 at the age of 94 years.

Ethel was the daughter of James and Elsie Byers and was born in McAuley at the home of Mag Colquhoun on September 1, 1928.

She took her few years of education at Park Plains, Declare and McAuley schools.

From the age of 10, she worked for various people in and around the area, working through harvest and was often late returning to school.

In 1944 she went to Winnipeg, where she worked until July, leaving for Vancouver with the Blanchard family who had asked her to go with them as a traveling companion for their daughter.

She remained there until 1948 when she returned to Welwyn, Saskatchewan.

Ethel was employed in Welwyn, McGregor and Brandon, Manitoba before her marriage to Doug Rookes on December 19, 1953 at the home of Gertie Byers.

They moved to Atikokan, Ontario in September of 1956 where Doug worked at Steep Rock Mine.

They had two children while living in Ontario, Allan who was born January 15, 1959 and Ian who was born July 5, 1960.

Doug and Ethel moved back to the Welwyn area in 1961 to the Rookes family farm.

In 1985, Doug took a job with Fort la Bosse School Division in Virden, Manitoba and this is where they remained.

Ethel was predeceased by her husband, Doug; siblings, Florence (21 days), Lawrence (Buster), Gordon, Johnny, Robert (Bob), Verna (Stewart), Baby girl, William (Bill), George (1 day) and Torrence (Buck).

Lillian Kerman
July 28, 1937 -
March 5, 2023

Lillian (Lill) Marie Ann Kerman (Nicholson) passed away peacefully at Moosomin Long Term Care on March 5, 2023 at the age of 85 years.

She was born on July 28, 1937 to Jeannette and James Nicholson of Welwyn, Saskatchewan on the family farm in the RM of Archie, Manitoba.

Lill was predeceased by her husband Roy Kerman of 45 years and sister Jean Frattinger.

She is survived by her

Lill married Roy Kerman on September 24, 1955 and farmed in McAuley until retiring in the fall of 1999 and moved off the farm and into McAuley.

Lill and Roy drove school bus in the McAuley area for 35 plus years until their retirement.

Roy passed away in 2000 and Lill moved to Moosomin in 2006, where she lived until moving into the Nursing Home in 2020.

Lill worked hard on the family farm and enjoyed her retirement. She loved to read as her pastime and always had several books on the go and waiting for the latest books to arrive at the library.

She kept busy with genealogy and was always working on family tree information and updating her records.

She always had time to stop for coffee with neighbours and friends and always enjoyed their visits.

Lill loved her family and enjoyed the visits with her children and especially grandchildren and her great-grandchildren. It would make her day blessed to have them all.

The family would like to thank the great care provided by all the staff at SEICC LTC. The staff were so wonderful and kind to her.

For those who desire, in lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to Moosomin and District Health Care Foundation Activities Department or CT Scanner Fund in memory of Lill.

A Celebration of Life for Lill is to be determined at a later date.

Adjudicators for Moosomin's 2023 Music Festival announced

The Moosomin and District Music Festival will be held March 20-21 for Piano and March 22-23 for Vocal, Speech Arts, and Musical Theatre.

The Adjudicator Choice Awards Concert will be April 2, at 2 pm at the Bethel United Church in Moosomin.

Following are the adjudicators for this year's music festival:

Audrey Falk Janzen Adjudicator for Piano

Audrey has more than 25 years of experience teaching piano and theory. Her solo and collaborative piano performance studies have allowed her to develop numerous strategies that have resulted in a holistic approach to teaching students of all levels.

Audrey adjudicates music festivals and competitions, has presented workshops, and is a member of the College of Examiners of the Royal Conservatory of Toronto.

She has been assistant musical director with productions at Rosthern Junior College (Sask.) for many years and is a past performer at the Station Arts Centre (Rosthern) professional summer musical production.

Audrey is currently one of the facilitators for the Online Piano Teacher Courses offered by RCM, has worked as a Sessional Lecturer at the University of Saskatchewan teaching musicianship, and also with the music department's delivery of online courses.

She maintains a small private studio teaching piano and theory as well as some voice. She continues to collaborate with vocalists and regularly accompanies choirs.

Audrey's choral experience extends to singing with many semi-professional choirs and smaller ensembles. This training and experience are synthesized into her approach to teaching.

Audrey and her husband, Richard, have two grown children, and a dog.

Terri-Lynn Mitchell

Adjudicator for Vocal, Speech Arts, Musical Theatre

Terri-Lynn Mitchell is a soprano, artist, collaborative pianist, choir director and private voice, piano and theory teacher based in Saskatoon.

She has a Masters of Music in Voice Performance from the University of Ottawa, as well as an Artist Diploma in Voice Performance and a Bachelor of Music (Honours) in Voice Performance from the University of Western Ontario.

Terri-Lynn also has an ARCT in Piano Performance from the Royal Conservatory of Music.

As a performer, Terri-Lynn has studied in Italy, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and the United States. Past roles include The Queen of the Night in Die Zauberflöte (UOttawa Opera), Ida in Die Fledermaus (UOttawa Opera), the title role in Gisela in Her Bathtub (UWOpera) by Neil Weisensel.

As a director, Terri-Lynn is experienced in coaching and staging both musical theatre and opera arias.

She took stage directing courses with Kevin Orr at UOttawa, and spent summer 2016 shadowing Carol Castel, Rob Herriot, Brian Deedrick and Kim Mattice Wanat at Opera Nuova. Terri-Lynn's main projects during her internship included Assistant Director to Carol Castel in a full production of Bellini's "I Capuletti e i Montecchi" as well as Assistant Director to Kim Mattice Wanat for "Parade" by Jason Robert Brown.

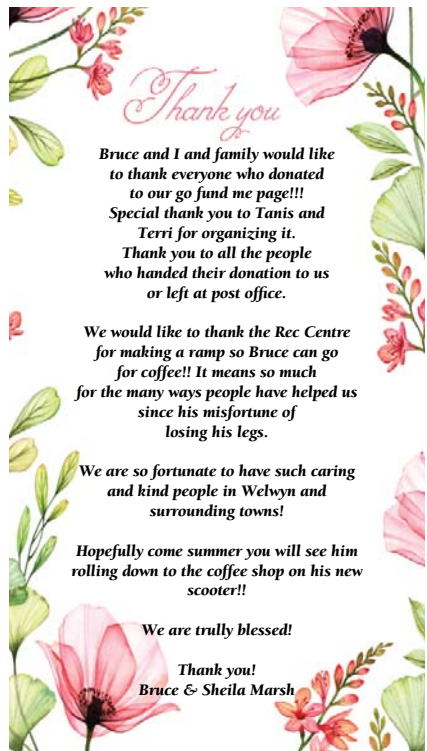

As a painter, Terri-Lynn explores the relationship between music and paint, initially creating a project in April 2015 entitled "Voice Canvas: Exploring Song Through Paint."

Over a six-month period, she expressed every song on the program on canvas through organic and improvised paint interpretation.

Since then, Terri-Lynn has led "Paint Your Music" workshops for Music and Beyond Family Expo in Ottawa, the Saskatoon branch of SRMTA and the Refinery in Saskatoon.

When not devoting her time to musical pursuits, Terri-Lynn enjoys studying languages and holds a Minor in Italian Studies from Western University. She has studied immersive Italian while living in Siena, Italy and German while studying in Munich, Germany.

BY KARA KINNA

At their regular meeting on Wednesday, it was reported to Redvers town council that the town has been approved for a grant under the New Horizons for Seniors Program. The town was approved for $13,519 under the program.

The town applied for the grant so that it can be used for excursions on the town's transit bus to help enhance the quality of life for local seniors. The outings can be for fun, such as going to an event or a performance, or for necessities, such as going to see a doctor. The excursions will be planned by the town and the town's transit bus driver.

Town will look into program for electric vehicle chargers

The town is looking into putting electric vehicle chargers in Redvers after being contacted by Jason Praski from Exa Energy Consulting in Saskatoon about applying for a program to install chargers.

Praski wrote to the town saying he was assisting Eco-West Canada from Winnipeg to distribute NRCAN's ZEVIP (Zero Emission Vehicle Infrastructure Program) funding for Saskatchewan that pays up to 50 per cent of the cost to install Level 2 (240 volt) electric vehicle chargers up to $5,000 in funding.

He said they are looking to sign up those interested in this round of funding by spring of 2023.

Council decided to look into the program further with the thought that the town and another organization, like tourism, could potentially partner on the project.

Tax abatement for restaurant approved

Council approved a tax abatement for the new owners of the Optimist Eatery.

The abatement falls under the town's Property Tax Incentives and Penalties By-law. Under the bylaw, there is an incentive for businesses making use of vacant commercial property. In the case of an existing business sitting vacant for more than one year, if it is sold to a new owner and a business is started, the town provides a 100 per cent tax abatement in the first and second year, and a 75 per cent abatement in the third year.

Town won't purchase Warren Street lot

The town decided not to move forward with the purchase of a lot at 9 Warren Street from the Redvers and District Arts Council.

The town had considered purchasing the empty lot from the arts council to store snow. The arts council offered the lot for sale to the town for $25,000, just under a rate of $3 a square foot.

Council discussed it but decided against purchasing the lot at that price just for snow storage.

AC to be fixed on transit bus

The air conditioning is not working on the town's transit bus. Council passed a motion on Wednesday to have the air conditioning repaired by Oxbow Tire in the amount of $4,500.

PST issue noted by council

The town briefly discussed a press release from SUMA regarding PST on municipal construction projects. The release pointed out that despite Municipal Revenue Sharing, municipalities are returning much of that money to the province in the form of PST on municipal construction projects.

According to the release, medium-sized cities in Saskatchewan returned 24 to 39 per cent of their total Municipal Revenue Sharing grant back to the province in the form of PST on construction projects in 2021.

The impact of PST on infrastructure projects was discussed during the virtual SUMA City Mayors' Caucus on Feb. 9.

Redvers council took interest in the issue, as the town is hoping to move forward with a major infrastructure project of its own in the form of a new water treatment system.

Council said they hope to see the issue come up at the next SUMA convention.

Town looking into non-profit designation for rec and fire department

The town is looking into what it would take to make the Redvers Rec Department and Redvers Fire Department their own non-profit corporations. Currently both organizations are under the town umbrella.

Town considering other building inspectors

During her CAO report, Tricia Pickard told council she will look into Municode, which is a company that offers building permit inspections. The town currently uses PBI for their building inspections, however during a joint town and RM meeting, some issues with PBI were discussed, and the town may consider changing from PBI to another company.

Fire hydrants in RM not feasible

A few businesses located in the RM of Antler have asked the town about installing fire hydrants in front of their businesses. However a six-inch water line is required for a hydrant and the line in the area discussed is only two inches. The fire department currently has one portable bladder, and will be adding one or two more portable bladders to their fire budget in 2023 in order to be used in the case of a commercial fire where there is no hydrant available in the RM.

Street sweeping estimate received

Council received an estimate from Virtue Construction for street sweeping in Redvers in 2023. The estimate was for $12,111 to sweep the entire town.

The town used Virtue Construction for sweeping last year and were happy with their services. They decided to first check and see if anyone else in the area is offering the service, and what their prices are, before hiring Virtue Construction again.

Dust control estimate received

Council received a quote of 38 cents per litre from Fort Distributors for dust control in the town in 2023. Fort Distributors has provided dust control since 2016 for the town. The town will be checking with the RM to see who they are using for dust control this year, before making any decision.

Teachers and parents were helping prepare the ski sets for students from Langenburg Central School during their visit to the Rocanville Ski Trails. Afterwards students enjoyed complimentary hot chocolate and hot dogs at the trail's bonfire.

For over 30 years now, McFarlane and Dennis Hack—equipment co-ordinator of the club—have voluntarily maintained the popular ski trails so that families and children can go skiing during the winter months of the year.

The trails can also be used during the summer for walking and hiking.

"Dennis and Layne have been fantastic. They welcomed us with open arms and have gone above and beyond to what I would've expected," said Krienke.

"It's a hidden gem out here. I wish our school was right beside it so I could come out here for my hour long classes.

"We love coming here. It's a perfect set up, the kids go out, everything loops back to the warm up shelter. Kids can't get lost or anything like that, it's set up really well."

Krienke said giving students an opportunity to try cross-country skiing through school may help lead them to continue the activity later down the road.

"I think some of the kids look at cross-country skiing and go, 'this is something I'm not going to do,' but then they get a little bit older, and might want to get into cross-country skiing," he said.

"Then they can recall some of these experiences they had in phys-ed class with us where it's like, 'oh we did that in phys-ed class, I can get out there that and do that now.'"

"Hopefully it will encourage them to try it on their own time or with their parents. I know Rocanville has their own equipment here so once the parents see that this is here, parents might show up with their kids and do it as a family too."

"You just hope it carries over into their lives and that they stay active doing whatever they want to do, but this is just another option for them."

Krienke said he was very appreciative for McFarlane and Hack's help with while visiting the trails with teachers and parent volunteers.

"I love these days, as a teacher these are days I really enjoy myself too," said Krienke.

"We had lots of parents and teachers come out to help, there was lots of adults out there with the kids to support."

"And honestly, Dennis was out there on the skis on Wednesday, Layne was in the shed making sure kids had hot chocolate and stuff. I can't say enough to them for being so good to us when we come."

After each visit, students enjoyed complimentary cups of hot chocolate and hot dogs at the trail's bonfire.

Aside from ski equipment, students also had access to snow shoes from the money Langenburg Central School and community raised in support of outdoor activities,

On Thursday, March 9 Grade 4, Grade 7, and Grade 10 students from Langenburg Central School went skiing at the Rocanville Cross Country Ski Club

From left are, Luke Krienke, physical education teacher at Langenburg Central School, Rocanville Cross-Country Ski Club executives Layne McFarlane and Dennis Hack. McFarlane and Hack volunteer their time all year round to keep the ski trails intact, so that families and friends can enjoy skiing on smooth and safe paths.

Students from Grade 5 and Grade 8 from Langenburg Central School visited the Rocanville Cross-Country Ski Trails last Wednesday as part of their physical education.
